A Guide to

Understanding Your Support History Record

This packet is solely meant to be a guide and is not meant to serve as legal advice. According to F. S. 28.215, "The clerk of the circuit court shall provide ministerial assistance to pro se litigants. Assistance shall not include the provision of legal advice."

Support History Records

A printed record of your support history is meant to give you and any third party in need of its financial information an overall understanding of your depository account activity including monthly obligations, payments, types of support and party information. This guide will help you better understand how to read your support history.

The following is a brief description of each section in your support history record.

I. Family Law Case History

This section contains the information about the case i.e. name of judge assigned to the division, case number, personal information about the parties involved, name(s) and date(s) of birth of the minor child(ren), delinquency tracking information, and account totals for amounts paid, assessed, disbursed, adjustments, etc.

II. Terms

This section details the payments that have been ordered by the court to be paid through the Florida State Disbursement Unit. These payments are detailed horizontally by the type of payment followed by the name of the person who is to receive that payment, the frequency in which payment is to be paid, the date that payment is to start and end, the amount, the date the next payment will come due, the status, and the balance due for that payment.

III. Transaction History

This section provides information on payments and assessments. The payments and assessments are detailed horizontally with the date, the receipt number (if applicable), the type of payment, the person to whom payment is owed, the amount, the check number (if applicable), and the running current balance due.
