INFORMATION SHEET
AFFIDAVIT OF COMPROMISED IDENTITY

1. Complete the Affidavit of Compromised Identity and have it notarized. If the information of the person who used your information is unknown, please indicate unknown.
2. If arrested for Criminal Traffic or Misdemeanor offenses you need to go to the arresting to have a fingerprint comparison made with the fingerprints taken at the time of arrest. The Lee County Sheriff's Office can assist with any Lee County Arrest; Cape Coral Police Department or Ft. Myers Police Department can assist if the arrest was made by that agency. The Fingerprint Examiner will provide documentation as to whether or not the fingerprints match. You will need that document to attach to the Affidavit to submit to the court. If the print is insufficient to make the comparison, the arresting deputy/officer would have to be contacted to make a visual comparison. The Lee County Sheriff's Department can also provide the Compromised Identity Theft Form that needs to be submitted to Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE).

More information regarding all types of Identity Theft is available on Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) Websites

In some instances of identity theft, a victim may be faced with a criminal record for a crime he or she did not commit. The Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) can provide a Compromised Identity Review (based on a fingerprint comparison of state criminal history files) to determine what, if any, criminal history belongs to you, and if any arrest records have been falsely associated with you as a result of someone using your identity. If a fingerprint check determines you are an identity theft victim, FDLE will work with local law enforcement agencies to attempt to clear fraudulent data from the criminal history files and provide you with a Compromised Identity Certificate.

The FDLE has developed a program to assist with identity theft claims and those individuals who are concerned that their personal identifiers may have been used in an arrest record contained within the Florida Computerized Criminal History (CCH) files. Individuals can review their criminal history files and obtain other information by using the links provided.
